

Willis Price has been praised for his vision and his unique approach in choosing the precise moment of time to best capture his inspiring images. His background includes working 40 years at the California Office of State Publications. After many years as a Master Cameraman working with conventional film, he took an active role in their conversion and transformation into Digital imaging. He's still finding the knowledge that was gained very useful in his own pursuit and interest in digital photography. Over the years his images have been used in many California State publications as well as promotional posters. His dedication to Photography and mastery of color, composition and perspective have been recognized by many. His work has received numerous awards, including the California State Exposition of Fine Arts prestigious Jurors Award for best of show in photography.
