01 - Baby Gift for Goddaughter.jpg

Karen Schofield

Nice vantage point. Background may be too heavy (dark)

02 - Bird tour bus with Madagascar natives.jpg

Kent Van Vuren

Nice use of frame

****

03 - Blacksmith at Work.jpg

Mary Ann Avera

Nice environmental portrait, would have been better with less depth of field (the trees are drawing my eye)

***

04 - Haybales being covered near Los Banos.jpg

Kent VanVuren

Beautiful frame and moment

*****

05 - Jeff.jpg

Carol Silveira

Intense, portrait looks slightly over sharpened to me though...

***

06 - Made it to the top!.jpg

Margret Cordts

Nice light, triumphant kids

****

07 - Moment.jpeg

Nicole Asselborn

Curious about the rest of the frame. I love this installation though
***

08 - Nice squid catch.JPG

Margret Cordts

Good vantage point
***

09 - Oiling The Engine.jpg

Mary Ann Avera

Love the steam. nice environmental portrait
***

10 - Ragged Point Portrait Portal.jpg

Karen Schofield

Watch the edges of the frame. i'd love to see the whole circle

***

11 - Selfie in front of the Mona Lisa.jpg

Christene Johnson

This is a portrait of the Mona Lisa that I've never seen

****

12 - Thinking.jpeg

Nicole Asselborn

nice color, slightly soft in focus

***

13 - Waiting For the Perfect Wave.jpg

Carol Silveira

Nice frame and light. Shadows look like they've been digitally altered though

****

14 - Young man tying his shoe in front of Notre-Dame de Paris.jpg

Christene Johnson

Nice moment, wish the tops of the entry ways to Notre Dame weren't cut off. Then it would be a 5 for sure.

There's such wonderful tension with the entrance on the left and they way the point is pushing at the top of the frame. If all 3 entries had their points pushing at the top of the frame, it would be amazing.
